

Ayako Nakai is an associate professor of Toyo University. Her work focuses specifically on luxurious hotels and strategies for attracting customers. She completed her Ph.D at Waseda University and her graduate studies at University College London.