

Erik Evjen is a Director of Data Analytics & Insights at Tourism Economics, a global tourism forecasting and quantitative analysis firm. At Tourism Economics, Erik developed and manage SYMPHONY, a customized market intelligence platform that combines Tourism Economics' own proprietary data with industry, DMO, and publicly available data to help partners gain accurate and deep intuitive understanding of both their internal and external metrics.

Prior to joining Tourism Economics, Erik developed and managed Philadelphia Convention & Visitor Bureau's research department, and currently serve on several national tourism related boards and committees, including the TTRA International Board of Directors.