

Jennifer Holland is a cruise and tourism researcher and lecturer at the University of Suffolk and her PhD is from the University of Brighton (UK). She is a Research Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society and member of the Travel and Tourism Research Association, and serves as Social Media Editor for the journal Tourism and Hospitality Research. Her research interests are consumer behaviour, marketing and risk with a focus on the cruise sector and her research is regularly featured in the media and industry publications particularly about the cruise industry's response to COVID and risk perceptions. www.jenniferholland.org