

Linda L. Lowry, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor in the Department of Hospitality and Tourism Management, Isenberg School, UMass-Amherst. Her research and teaching interests include: social, cultural, and economic impacts of tourism and sustainable development and theory development. She is a qualitative researcher and locates herself in the performance turn.