

Thilini Alahakoon is a PhD student of QUT Business School, Queensland University of Technology, Australia. She is also a marketing lecturer at the University of Colombo, Sri Lanka with five years of teaching and administrative experience. Her research interests include destination marketing, experience studies, transformative travel, and cultural and heritage tourism.