

Oksana Tokarchuk is assistant professor of Tourism Management and Marketing at Free University of Bolzano. She is a member of TOMTE, the Competence Center in Tourism Economics and Tourism Management. She holds PhD in Economics and Management. Her research interests include investigation of wellbeing related to vacation-taking, application of Behavioral and Experimental Economics to the field of tourism, and big data analytics.