

Xingyu Huang is a PhD student in Business administration with a concentration of Tourism and Sports at Fox School of Business, Temple University. Her current research interests lie in tourism marketing, tourist's emotion and health, customer behavior/experience in tourism and hospitality.